ADVICE TO A YOUNG MAN.

Sound and Sensible Words from a Nodded Preacher to His Son.

The following letter from Henry Ward Beecher to his son is authentic and should be carefully pondered by every young man:

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 18, 1878.

My Dear Herbert:—You are now for the first time really launched into life for yourself. You go from your father's house, and from all family connections, to make your own way in the world. It is a good time to make a new start, to cast out faults of whose evil you have had an experience, and to take on habits the want of which you have found to be so damaging.

1. You must not go into debt. Avoid debt as you would the devil. Make it a fundamental rule: No debt—cash or nothing.

2. Make few promises. Religiously observe even the smallest promise. A man who means to keep his promises cannot afford to make many.

3. Be scrupulously careful in all statements. Accuracy and perfect frankness, no guess work. Either nothing or accurate truth.

4. When working for others, sink yourself out of sight, seek their interest. Make yourself necessary to those who employ you, by industry, fidelity and scrupulous integrity. Selfishness is fatal.

5. Hold yourself responsible for a higher standard than anybody else expects of you. Demand more of yourself than anybody else expects of you. Keep your personal standard high. Never excuse yourself to yourself. Be a hard master to yourself; be lenient to everybody else.

6. Concentrate your force on your proper business; do not turn off. Be constant, steadfast, persevering.

7. The art of making one's fortune is to spend nothing. In this country any intelligent and industrious young man may become rich if he stops all leaks and is not in a hurry. Do not haste; be patient.

8. Do not speculate or gamble. You go to a land where everybody is excited and strives to make money suddenly, largely, and without working for it. They blow soap bubbles. Steady, patient industry is both the surest and safest way. Greediness and haste are two evils that destroy thousands every year.

9. In regard to Mr. B., he is a Southern gentleman; he is receiving you as a favor to me; do not let him regret it.

10. I beseech you to correct one fault—severe speech of others; never speak evil of any man, no matter what the facts may be. Hasty, fault-finding and severe speech of absent

AFTER GRIPPE

Vinol Will Restore Strength and Appetite Quickly.

Take It To Prevent The Grippe.

The grippe is a disease which seems to become more prevalent every year. It becomes almost a habit. Those who have had it once can scarcely get through the following winter without having it again, sometimes twice.

Everyone should keep their systems toned up. Fortify the human citadel so that it will be impregnable to the onslaughts of this most distressing of all maladies.

There is nothing that will keep you in condition and help better to ward off diseases than Vinol. There are many people who last winter took Vinol simply as a preventative and have proved conclusively that by keeping themselves in good condition they escaped the grippe that attacked other members of the family who neglected to take the same precautions.

We can tell those who have had the grippe what to take to help them towards speedy recovery. It is this same Vinol. Take it when you first have the grippe. It will not go so hard with you. Your recovery will be quicker, and when you are able to be out, you will not suffer from those terrible after effects that make this disease so dangerous.

Remember that Vinol is strengthening, flesh creating and an arrestor of all wasting diseases.

"I bought a bottle of Vinol for my wife and two children who were suffering from the after effects of grippe. They had taken several remedies without doing them any good. The effect of the medicine was so marked that I bought another bottle which made a complete cure, and restored my wife and children to perfect health." N. B. BROWN, travelling agent for the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Our good opinion of Vinol increases every day. Our faith in it is unshaken. To prove to you that we believe all we say we will gladly refund its cost if you do not find that it is every thing we claim it to be.

SCROFULA

I bequeath to my children Scrofula with all its attendant horrors, humiliation and suffering. This is a strange legacy to leave to posterity; a heavy burden to place upon the shoulders of the young.

This treacherous disease dwarfs the body and hinders the growth and development of the faculties, and the child born of blood poison, or scrofula-tainted parentage, is poorly equipped for life's duties.

Scrofula is a disease with numerous and varied symptoms; enlarged glands or tumors about the neck and armpits, catarrh of the head, weak eyes and dreadful skin eruptions upon different parts of the body show the presence of tubercular or scrofulous matter in the blood. This dangerous and stealthy disease entrenches itself securely in the bones and tissues, destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, resulting in a white swelling, a pallid, waxy appearance of the skin, loss of strength and a gradual wasting away of the body.

S. S. S. combines both purifying and tonic properties, and is guaranteed entirely vegetable, making it the ideal remedy in all scrofulous affections. It purifies the deteriorated blood, makes it rich and strong and a complete and permanent cure is soon effected. S. S. S. improves the digestion and assimilation of food, restores the lost properties to the blood and quickens the circulation, bringing a healthy color to the skin and vigor to the weak and emaciated body.

Write us about your case and our physicians will cheerfully advise and help you in every possible way to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases free.

people is not honorable, is apt to be unjust and cruel, make enemies to yourself, and is wicked.

11. You must remember that you go to Mr. B., not to learn to manage a farm like his. One or two thousand acres, not forty thousand, is to be your future homestead; but you can learn the care of cattle, sheep, the culture of wheat, climate, country, manners and customs, and a hundred things that will be needful.

12. If by integrity, industry and well earned success you deserve well of your fellow-citizens they may in years to come ask you to accept honors. Do not seek them, do not receive them when you are young—wait; but when you are established you may make your father's name known with honor in halls of legislation.

Lastly, do not forget your father's and your mother's God. Because you will be largely deprived of church privileges, you need all the nerve to keep your heart before God. But do not despise small churches and humble preachers. "Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate."

Read often the proverbs, the precepts and duties enjoined in the New Testament. May your father's God go with you and protect you.

The Lad with the Snow Shovel.

"Want yer sidewalk shoveled off, ma'am? I'll have the snow all off in a jiffy, if you say the word to go ahead, ma'am."

"No, I guess not," said Mrs. Maxwell, smiling down at the small boy and big snow shovel before her. "My servants always attend to clearing off the snow, and I wouldn't care to hire any one else."

"You needn't pay me, ma'am, I'll do it for nothin', seein' I ain't busy, jest to show you how much better I c'n do it than anybody else. Then maybe you'll hire me the next time."

"All right. Work away, if you wish to do it for nothin'," said Mrs. Maxwell jokingly as she closed the door and returned to the supervision of her household.

"Well, I declare if that persistent little scamp hasn't taken me at my word!" she exclaimed as she looked out of the window a few minutes later. "I supposed, of course, he would go away when I accepted his offer to do the work for nothin'; but there he is, hard at work, and I suspect I shall have to give him half a dollar when he gets through, even if the servants do growl about having their favorite job taken away from them."

Half an hour later there was a ring at the bell, and Mrs. Maxwell took her purse in her hand and went to the door. She opened it, and, as she expected, there stood the lad with the snow shovel. Removing his cap, with a scrape and a bow, he said: "I've got my job done, an' I hope it'll suit you, ma'am. I would've gone on without botherin' you ag'in when I got it done, but I found this shiny breastpin on one of yer doorsteps, ma'am, right up next to the railing where some one dropped it, an' I thought maybe it might be yourn, ma'am."

"And so it is!" exclaimed Mrs. Maxwell, eagerly grasping the pin. "It is my diamond brooch. I missed it last night upon returning from a drive in the park, and I have sent a notice to the papers offering a reward of twenty dollars for its recovery. Though the notice has not been published, yet I consider that you are clearly entitled to the money, and if you will step inside a moment I will get it for you."

"No, ma'am. I don't want any pay for being honest," said the lad with a shake of the head. "I don't want yer reward; but if you're mind to pay me suthin' for cleanin' yer walk, seein' I found yer di'mon' breastpin while I was workin' at it, you c'n do it."

"Certainly I will pay you. Here is a dollar for your work. And now, my boy, wouldn't you like something better to do than carrying that big shovel around looking for odd jobs at cleaning walks of snow? Don't you think you could make yourself useful in a store?"

"I'd try hard if I had the chance, ma'am."

"You shall have it. Come right in and take a seat in the hall until I write you a recommendation. Mr. Maxwell has a big store down town, and I am going to ask him to give you a chance to earn a living in it."

An hour later a sturdy, independent-looking lad, accompanied by a snow shovel taller than himself, marched into the store and presented his note from Mrs. Maxwell and secured a position and in the eighteen years that have passed since he entered the establishment he has steadily risen from one position of trust to another, and today he is Mr. Maxwell's right-hand man and trusted adviser in all his vast business enterprises.—W. S. Gidley, in Children's Visitor.

HE LOST $100,000.

Young Reginald Vanderbilt's Gambler.

New York, March 27.—Society was startled today by a confirmed story to the effect that Reginald Claypool Vanderbilt, the head of the Vanderbilt family, and the principal heir of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt and grand-son of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, had lost over $100,000 at a roulette table in the famous gambling house of Dick Canfield.

Young Vanderbilt is now a senior at Yale, where news of the luckless play caused a great sensation. The event is said to have occurred after a dinner given in honor of the young man.

Late Literary News.

"What Women Like in Men," "What Men Like in Women," and "Husbands and Wives," are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Rafford Pike, the third of which appears in The Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of The Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit, with a series of beautifully printed photographs, under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in fiction.

WOMAN'S RELIEF
A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will quickly relieve those smarting menstrual pains and the dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

WINE OF CARDUI
has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy. It is the provision made by Nature to give women relief from the terrible aches and pains which blight so many homes.

GREENWOOD, LA., Oct. 14, 1900. I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.
